Some of my pursuits here have led me to wonder in what state your project on world freight charges is. Is the research completed, or are you still working on the relationship between freight charges and import (or export) values?

Depending on your present interest in these matters and Sol's approval, I believe a mutually beneficial arrangement might be evolved by which we might provide the funds to finance a small extension of your project. What I have in mind would involve one person working full-time under your direction and supervision for about one year. If such an arrangement is at all feasible, I could come to talk the matter over with you and Sol.

In any event, a pleasant summer to you.

Cordially,
